Join us for our virtual National Organizing conference this September 18-20th!

Converging Crises: Why America Needs Socialism

For many, it is becoming increasingly clear that the two capitalist parties in the United States do not and will never represent working class interests. As the simultaneous crises in 2020 of an international pandemic and mass demonstrations in response to police brutality continue, radical solutions are needed as an alternative to meaningless reform. This National Organizing Conference will explore the necessity of combat these crises by organizing for a socialist future.
